

Award and Certificate in Equality and Diversity

Level 2 : Award 60gh : Award 6 credits
Certificate 180gh : Certificate 18 credits

The changing and diverse nature of our communities poses many challenges for individuals, groups and employers throughout the UK. In order to allow the social inclusion of all people in society, there is a need to bring equality, diversity and rights issues into the mainstream so that they are no longer viewed as something only affecting 'minority' groups.

The aim of the NCFE Level 2 Award and Certificate in Equality and Diversity is to give learners an introduction to the issues around stereotyping, prejudice and discrimination. It will also help them to identify the basic rights that all people should enjoy and the shared values people have, whilst examining the responsibility each person and organisation has in ensuring that barriers to participation in society are removed.

Who is it for?

The course is suitable for a wide range of learners, including those who are already in work to support their continuous professional development, or those seeking employment. It's also ideal for those who are looking to develop an awareness of issues surrounding equality and diversity, for their own personal development.

What are the benefits of doing this course?

Both the Award and Certificate in Equality and Diversity will help to raise awareness of discrimination, prejudice, stereotyping, and individual freedoms and rights. In doing so, it will promote learners' understanding of what it means to live in a diverse society and the laws that are in place to prevent unjust behaviour. This will be beneficial not only to the learners themselves but also to their employers and the wider society.
