Level 2    ⋮    62–83glh    ⋮    8 credits

Activity provision for people who live in a care setting can make a significant contribution to their well-being and quality of life. Simple activities such as taking a walk, playing cards, listening to the radio or looking after a pet can help give pleasure and bring purpose to the day.

This qualification aims to provide staff in the health and social care sector with comprehensive knowledge and understanding of the potential benefits for individuals in social care of engaging in both everyday and programmed activities.

Who is it for?

This course is designed for anyone who works, or would like to work in a care setting and will be ideal for those responsible for co-ordinating and delivering activities to individuals and groups. It is particularly relevant for learners who wish to increase their understanding of the significance of activity to person-centred care. Whilst the main focus is on working with older people in residential care settings, the skills developed are transferable and equally relevant for those delivering day care and domiciliary-based care.

What are the benefits of doing this course?

The course will help increase individual workers' knowledge and skills in planning, carrying out and evaluating activities, thereby enhancing the quality of care that service users experience. Staff who have the necessary skills to organise and facilitate structured activities will be an asset to any care home.
